Notice

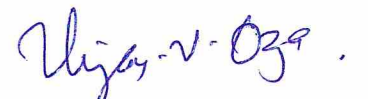

Subject:- Clarification regarding eligibility of the final year PG Students without completing the 'Online Course in Research Methods' for appearing in final PG Examination 2023 of the Post Graduate Programmes.

Board of Governors Post Graduate in Super Session of Medical Council of India Vide Notification No. MCI-18(1)/2019-Me/171700 dt 11.12.2019, had stipulated that all PG Students admitted from the AY 2019-20 onwards shall complete an online course in Research Methods, which is essential for appearing for the final examination of the respective PG Course.

2. Further, Vide public No. NMC-23(1)(137)/2022/Med/PG Notice dt. 07.06.2022, an exemption permitting all PG Students admitted in the AY 2019-20 who could not complete the online Course in Research Methods to appear in the Final Examinations in 2022. However, the such students have to complete the online Course in Research Methods within Six months for which dean will facilitate in registration of the Course and the result of such students will only be declared after completion of the online course.

3. Post Graduate Medical Education Board (PGMEB) has received the representation from the Kaloji Narayana Rao University of Health Science, Telangana regarding PG students of 2020-21 batch requesting to grant exemption in similar way and to permit them to appear in the examination scheduled to be held in the month of June 2023 as they have not completed the Online Course in Research Methods. The Students have represented that they shall complete the training course within 6 months. Similar representations have been received from students of 2020-21 batch from other colleges also.

4. Post Graduate Medical Education Board (PGMEB) has decided that all Students can be allowed to appear in the Post Graduate Examination 2023 with the condition that the result will be declared only after passing of Basic Course in Biomedical Research (BCBR) online course because 2020-21 batch was involved in COVID management for one & half year of their course and 2021 batch was admitted in Feb-March 2022.
